1	Launch and Haul of boat at location where is is not feasible to sail to.	3/6/2017 8:58 PM
2	I don't race. Haven't gotten around to it.	3/6/2017 5:18 PM
3	Getting boat to venue Lining up crew	3/6/2017 4:51 PM
4	I would shift the regatta to the left leaving Sunday a travel day for those from out of town. Nothing is more frustrating at the end of a major championship than to race for a half a day, haul, de-rig, then get on the road to travel home. People are tired and the last thing they want to do is drive any distance after having to pack up. Ideally, having the last day be Saturday works well so that folks can enjoy the awards party and socialize with fellow competitors.	3/6/2017 4:11 PM
5	Transporting	3/6/2017 4:10 PM
6	Work obligations	3/6/2017 3:38 PM
7	Cannot do the 10 qualifying races because fleet is very small and members will not race weekly	3/6/2017 2:02 PM
8	Lack of local fleet support for travel and racing. Distance to east coast venues (excluding 2016).	3/6/2017 1:53 PM

1	This move would clearly be beneficial for crew attendance, but would put more pressure on boat owners to arrange moving boats.	3/6/2017 4:54 PM
2	Yes. Don't do it. There is typically better racing during the week than weekends because all the yahoos are not out and about.	3/6/2017 4:13 PM
3	it just doesn't matter to me who'll never get to a nationals because our fleet won't race enough to get me over the 10 race qualifying threshold	3/6/2017 2:04 PM
